WHEN I AM OLD.

When I am old—and, O how soon
While life's sweet morning wears to noon,
And noon's broad, fervent, fervent light
Be shadowed in the solemn night!
Till, like a story well-nigh told,
Will seem my life—when I am old.

When I am old, this hoary head
Will lose for me its voice of mirth—
The streams will have no undertone
Of melody not by right their own;
And spring's sweet power in vain unfold
In rosy charms—when I am old.

When I am old, I shall not care
To deck with flowers my faded hair;
'Twill be no vain desire of mine
In rich and costly dress to shine;
Bright jewels and the brightest gold
Will charm me naught—when I am old.

Many, dear God, my friends will be
Old, and infirm, and bowed, like me;
Or else their bodies 'neath the sod,
Their spirits far like unto with God;
The old church bell will long have tolled
Above the rest—when I am old.

When I am old, I'd rather bend
Thus sadly o'er each buried friend,
Than see their lips the earnest truth
That marks the friendship of our youth;
'Twill be so sad to have them cold
Or strange to me—when I am old!

When I am old—O, how it seems
Like the wild fantasy of dreams,
To picture in prophetic rhyme
That dim, far distant, shadowy time!
So distant that it seems to be told
Even to say—"When I am old!"

When I am old!—perhaps ere then
I shall be reft from the haunts of men;
Perhaps my dwelling will be found
Beneath the green and quiet mound,
My name by stranger hands unrolled
Among the dead—ere I am old.

Ere I am old!—but time is now,
For youth sits lightly on my brow;
My limbs are firm, and strong, and free,
Life has a thousand charms for me;
Charms that will long their influences hold
Within my heart—ere I am old.

Ere I am old—O, let me live
My life to learning how to live;
Then shall I meet with willing heart
An early summons to depart,
Or, find my lengthened days consoled
By God's sweet peace—when I am old.

Select Miscellany.

Ellen's Mistake about Heaven.

BY VIRGINIA F. TOWNSEND.

'What is your name dear,' asked Aunt Grace, as she tied the child's straw bonnet and thought what a sweet little creature she was, with cheeks and lips red as cranberries, and eyes blue and serene as the skies are when May is getting ready to shake hands with June.

'My name is Susan Darling,' lisped the little girl.

'Well Ellen, said Aunt Grace, turning to her neice, take good care of the little girl, and I hope you'll all have a good time among the strawberry fields.'

It was Saturday afternoon, and some dozen of Ellen Dean's schoolmates had assembled at her house, from which they were to start on a strawberry expedition, and their minds had been greatly exercised on this matter for the last week.

Ellen was an only child, and Aunt Grace was her mother's only sister, and though she lived in the city, with her parents, she passed a large portion of every Summer at her aunt's home in the country.

So the lady stood at the window and watched the party of girls as they flocked down to the front gate, with their little baskets, and tin kettles filled with the luncheon of biscuit and cake their careful mothers had wrapped up for them. And when Aunt Grace saw the bright faces of the children, and heard their merry voices, and the sweet ripples of laughter that overflowed their merry lips, she almost wished she was a little girl again, with a tin kettle on her arm going off into the meadow strawberrying that fair Saturday afternoon.

A week had passed. It was a bright Saturday afternoon again, but no bright faced children flocked out of the door of Ellen Dean's home, and there was a shadow on the forehead of the little girl, and a strange awe in her eyes, as she came softly into the room where Aunt Grace sat reading, and whispered close in the lady's ear, 'She's dead Aunty,'

Aunt Grace laid down her book. 'It don't seem possible,' she said; and it's only a week ago to-day, that she lifted up her bright little face to me and said my name is Susan Darling.' And to think, she lies there, cold, and white, and that she'll never smile or speak again.' Aunt Grace could not go on, and she and Ellen cried softly together.

'How old was she?' at last asked the lady.

'Just ten Aunty.'

'A year younger than you are Ellen:—Ah me! death comes very suddenly, and it don't wait either, for the old and the grey haired, but it takes those who least look for it; the little children, whose hearts are full of life and hope, and happiness; and lo! death calls for them, and they are gone.

'She died of cromp, Aunty, the doctor says it was a very severe attack. Oh, how I wish I could see her once more!'

'Do you my child, it is not a long walk and I will go with you by and by.'

Two hours later Ellen and Aunt Grace stood in the little bed room whence Susan Darling had gone home to God. They had not laid her in the coffin yet, and she looked very happy and life-like as she lay there, with her little waxen hands folded together, and the long brown lasher closed tightly over the blue eyes that would never sparkle with sweet smiles any more.

Ellen stood still and looked a long time, holding her aunt's hand, but she scarcely spoke a word, only she was thinking what a sweet little girl Susan Darling was, and how they would miss her at school, in her place by the window, and what a terrible thing it was to die so young and so suddenly.

'Well, she is in Heaven now, with the God who loves little children,' said Aunt Grace as she led her neice away.

'But I know, Aunty she'd rather have stayed in this world, where it is so pleasant, and she was so happy with the girls, than go away off there. You know the people are all so good in Heaven, and sing psalms all the time, but Susan loved to play, and frolic, and go out into the woods gathering flowers and berries, and now she can't do it any more, for you know Heaven is such a good place, but then this world is so pleasant.'

'Ellen, my dear child, said Aunt Grace, who made this world, with all its beautiful sunshine, its hills and fields, and trees, and flowers, and all the things we love?'

'Why God, Aunty.'

'Well, just think, if he has made this world which is full of sin, and suffering, and misery, so very beautiful, what must that world be where none of these things can never enter? No, no, Ellen, they do something up there beside singing psalms. The flowers that grow there are fairer than the roses and lilies of this world, and the trees that rise in these blessed woods never put off their green leaves, and those shining hills never put on the white snows of Winter. As Ellen, I love to think of that bright place; of the berries, and flowers, and beautiful things that grow there, and of the little children that laugh as they wander through the woods, and may be sport by the streams, with the blessed angels to take care of them; and then when I have thought a long time about all these things, I remember what Paul says and what you have read in your little Testament so often. "It has not entered into the heart of men to conceive it." Just think of it, dear, we cannot even imagine its wondrous beauty, and glory and perfection.'

'Is it really so, Aunty,' asked Ellen looking up her face kindled with new light. 'Maybe it isn't right to, say so, but I always thought Heaven was a good, but such a gloomy place; and I shouldn't want to go there until I was very old, and very tired of this world.'

'And so I used to think, once, Ellen, and so alas! a great many little children think, but they are all mistaken. I have only now to look abroad on this world, and seeing all beauty, to remember God made it, and I am certain then the home He has promised me up there will be a great deal fairer than this, and that when I get there I shall enjoy a great deal more of its pleasant walks and its softer winds, and its brighter scenes.'

'O, I shall love to think of Heaven, and that Susie is there now!' and there was a new joy in Ellen's eyes.

Little children who have thought that heaven was a dark and gloomy place, just like a meeting house, where people sit still and sing almost all day, just remember what Aunt Grace said, and be sure the little children who go there take such comfort that they never sigh to come back to this world.

GENUINE ELOQUENCE.—There is no people in the world with whom eloquence is so universal a gift as the Irish. When Leitch Ritchie was travelling in Ireland, he passed a man who was a painful spectacle of pallor, squallor, and raggedness.—His heart smote him, and he turned back. "If you are in want," said Ritchie, with some degree of peevishness, "why don't you beg?"

"Sure, it's begging I am, yer honor."

"You didn't say a word."

"Oy coorse not, yer honor; but see how the skin is speakin' through the holes of me trousers! and the bones cryin' out through me skin! Look at me sunken checks, and the famine that's starin' in me eyes! Man alive! isn't it beggin' I am with a hundred tongues!"

PROFANITY.—If there is anything in man which exhibits an entire want of self-respect, it is profaneness. It is certainly no mark of a gentleman to swear profanely for the worthless and vile, the very drugs of society, do this; and very frequently they swear even better than the well-dressed gentlemen. The basest and meanest of mankind often swear with as good a grace as the more refined.

Be Systematic.

It will add more to your convenience and comfort through life than you can imagine. It saves time, saves temper, saves patience, and saves money. For a while it may be a little troublesome, but you will soon find it is easier to do right than wrong; that it is easier to go by rule than without one.

Be systematic in everything; let it extend to the minuest trifles, it is not beneath you. Whitfield could not go to sleep at night, if, after retiring he remembered that his gloves and riding whip were not in their usual place, where he could lay his hands right on them in the dark, in any emergency; and such are the men who leave their mark for the world's history. It was by his systematic habits from youth to age that Noah Webster was able to leave to the world his great dictionary. "Method was the presiding spirit of his life," writes from his biographer.

Systematic men are the only reliable men; they are the men who comply with their engagements. They are minute men. The man who has nothing to do is the man who does nothing. The man of system is soon known to do all that he engages to do; to do it well and to do at the time promised, consequently he has his hands full. When I want any mechanical job done, I go to the man whom I always find busy, and I do not fail to find him to be the man to do that job promptly and to the hour.

And more, teach your children to be systematic. Begin with your daughters at five years of age; give them a drawer or two for their clothing; make it a point to go to that drawer any hour of the day and night, and if each article is not properly arranged, give quiet and rational admonition; if arranged well, give affectionate praise and encouragement. Remember that children, as well as grown people, will do more to retain a name than to make one.

As soon as practicable, let your children have a room which shall be its own, and treat that room as you did the drawer, thus you will plant and cultivate a habit of systematic action, which will bless that child when young, increases the blessings when the child becomes a parent, and extend its pleasurable influences to the close of life. A single unsystematic person in a house, is a curse to any family. A wife who has her whole establishment so arranged, from cellar to attick, that she knows, on any emergency, where to go for a required article, is a treasure to any one, (my experience reader!) while one who never knows where anything is, and when it is by accident found, is almost sure to find it crumbled, soiled, or out of order, such a wife is the latter, is unworthy of the name, and is a living reproach to the mother who bore her.—Hall's Journal.

Speaking Out in Dreams.

A correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch tells the following in a letter from one of the Springs. An amusing incident occurred on the Virginia and Tennessee road, which must be preserved in print. It is to good too be lost. As the train entered the Big Tunnel, near this place, in acordance with the usual custom a lamp was lit. A servant girl, accompanying her mistress, had sank into a profound slumber, but just as the lamp was lit she awoke, and half asleep imagined herself in the infernal regions. Frantic with fright she implored her Maker to have mercy on her, remarking at the same time 'the devil has got me at last.' Her mistress, sitting in front of the terrified negro, was deeply mortified, and called out—'Mollie don't make a noise; it is I be not afraid.' The poor African immediately exclaimed, 'Oh, missus, dat you; just what I 'spected; I always thought if ever I got to the bad place, I would see you dar.' These remarks were uttered with much vehemence, that not a word was lost, and the whole coach became convulsed with laughter.

☞ Rowland Hill was always annoyed when there happened to be any noise in the chapel, or when anything happened to divert the attention of his hearers from what he was saying. On one occasion a few days before his death, he was preaching to one of the most crowded congregations that ever assembled to hear him. In the middle of his discourse he observed a commotion in the gallery. For some time he took no notice of it, but finding it increasing, he paused in his sermon and looking in the direction in which the confusion prevailed he exclaimed:

'What's tht matter there? The Devil seems to have got among you.'

A plain country man immediately started to his feet, and addressing Hill in reply said:

'No sir, it arn't the devil as is doing it; it's a fat fody whot's fainted, as don't seem likely to come to again.'

'Oh, that's it is it,' observed Mr. Hill drawing his hand across his chin, 'then I beg the lady's pardon and the devil's too.'

☞ As a general rule, self-interest is the mainspring of our actions, and the utility the test of their value.

A Story With a Moral.

Mr. Bones, of the firm of Fossil, Bones & Co., was one of those remarkable money making men, whose uninterrupted success in trade has been the wonder, and afforded the material for the gossip of the town for nearly seven years. Being of familiar turn of mind, he was frequently interrogated on the subject, and invarably gave as the secret of his success, that he minded his own business.

A gentleman met Mr. Bones on the Assanipink Bridge. He was going intently on the dashing, foaming waters as they fell over the dam. He was evidently in a brown study. Our friend ventured to disturb his cogitations.

'Mr. Bones, tell me how to make a thousand dollars.'

Mr. Bones continued looking intently at the water. At last he ventured a reply.

'Do you see that dam, my friend.'

'Certainly I do?'

'Well, here you may learn the secret of making money. The water would waste away and be of no practical use to anybody but for the dam. That dam turns it to good account, makes it perform some useful purposes, and then suffers it to pass along. That large paper mill is kept in constant motion by the simple conomy. Many mouths are fed by the manufacture of paper, and intelligence is scattered broadcast over the land on the sheets that are daily turned out; and in the different processes through which it passes money is made. So it is in the living of hundreds of people. They get enough of money. It passes through their hands every day, and at the years end they are no better off. What is the reason? They want a dam. Their expenditures are increasing and no practical good is attained. They want them dammed up, so that nothing will pass through their hands without bringing something back—without accomplishing some useful purpose. Dam up your expenses and you will soon have enough occasionally to spare a little, just like that dam. Look at it my friend!'—Trenton True American.

A Cure for Scrofula.

The Cincinnatti Commercial publishes the following communication from Nicholas Longworth the great wine manufacturer of that city:

All the papers I had giving the cure for scrofula have been distributed to persons sending for the remedy. I have never heard of a case where it did not effect a speedy cure, and it can in no case do an injury. In several instances, where it has been applied in old sores, it has also speedily effected perfect cures. Put one ounce of aquafortis in a bowl or saucer, drop in it two copper cents; it will effervesce; leave the cents in; when the effervesce ceases, add two ounces of the strongest cider vinegar. The fluid will be a dark green color. It should and will smart. If too severe put in a little rain water. Apply it to the sore, morning and evening, by a soft brush or rag. Before applying it, wash the sore with water. Its first application known to me was a poor girl, sent to our city from Memphis, to have her leg cut off as it was feared she might not live long enough to have it cut off in that hot climate. She was refused admittance to the poor house, and was lying on the sidewalk, as she could not even stand up. From her knee to her foot one third of the flesh was gone and all the skin except a strip about two inches wide. She was laid on a bed, and the remedy placed on a chair by it. She could rise up and apply it.

In a few days her peace of mind returned, and she declared it was getting well. It was supposed it was a relief from the pain only, but when examined fresh flesh was found growing, and skin over it.—She was soon running about, and would work, which delayed the entire cure, leaving a small sore, which was in a few months entirely healed. A young girl with scrofula in her neck, having a large open hole and deemed incurable came one month after entirely cured and recently married, with her husband, on their way to the East. I have never known a case where it did not effect a cure.

TRUE.—Every day we live, says an exchange, we are more than ever convinced that nine-tenths of the misfortunes which attend humanity are self-inflicted. People jump off railroad cars while in motion; go bathing in deep water when they cannot swim; imbibe spiritous liquors and meet with accidents; expose themselves regardless of prudence, and suffer all manner of most evil consequences which a little forethought would in most cases have averted. People know very well that a violation of the common law involves a penalty, and yet utterly ignore the fact that nature is still more inexorable than the legislature, and visits with corresponding punishments every transgression of her laws.

A Fight in Church.

The Lowell Citizen states that on Sunday morning, Rev. T. Lamphear was entering his pulpit in the Orthodox church, at Exters N. H., one of the 'ladies' of his choir made a furious attack on another female singer. The scuffic soon terminated, but just as the services were commencing the first belligerent 'went in' again, thus indulging in a 'repeat' as well as a 'shake.' This music was decidedly peculiar, as every 'beat' was accepted. Bonnets were quickly resolved into their original bits of ribbon; mysteries of the toilet exposed in a way not often seen in the sanctuary.—Worse than all, the faces of the sweet singers of the temple were scrached by each others nails in a manner that however unfeeling, was not at all un-feline. After the combatants had suffered considerable in their persons, and their skirts looked literary like the skeletons of their former selves, some of the other sex mustered courage enough to part them. The original assailant however had to be carried forcibly out of the 'seats,' to prevent her from making another crescendo attempt at repeating her mad-ri-gal. The cause of the trouble was that the assailant accused the assailed of flirting with the leader of the choir, a married man and son-in-law of the virago. This sort of jealously has led the amazon into previous troubles with various females.

A GOOD STORY.—A good story is told of a New Orleans editor, who thought himself "some" at ten pins. He challenged a stranger one evening, who said he wasn't much of a player, but he'd roll him a game just for amusement, and they began. The stranger won two games easily, and then proposed that he should roll with his left hand against the editor's right. This was assented to, and the result was as before, two more games being scored against the editor. The stranger then seriously proposed to roll again, and not use his hands at all, but to kick the balls down the alley, the other using his right hand as usual. The editor agreed thinking he had the fellow sure then; but he kicked the balls down the alley with astonishing precision and success, making strikes and spares in a style that struck terror to the soul of the dumpfounded editor. Two games were played in unique manner, and were both scored against the editor. He then offered to play another game, and blow the balls down the alley, using neither hand nor feet, but the editor was quite satisfied and left the place amid the laughter of the company.

☞ "A man lately died in Boston from the effects of the growing of a toe nail." Did he? We regret still more to hear that any one has lived to a mature age without learning how to prevent "the growing of a toe nail," by which we presume is meant that frequent occurrence of the corner of the nail growing into the overlying flesh, in consequence of wearing boots or shoes too tight. We have known cases of excruciating suffering arising from this cause; and only last week we rode down town in company with a surgeon on his way to operate on a toe that had become inflamed from the corner of the nail growing into the flesh. Now to prevent this difficulty. Do not cut away the offending corner of the nail, as is usually done, very short, but cut a notch in the centre, quite down to the quick, and keep that notch there until the difficulty is cured, which will sometimes be with the first cutting. The philosophy of the remedy is that the cut breaks the arch, and naturally changes the curvature of the nail and makes the corners turn up instead of down.—N. Y. Tribune.

CHERISH YOUR WIFE.—What animal but man did you ever see maltreat a female of his species? The claims to pity and uncommon consideration every woman builds up during a few years of marriage! Her inestimable value in the house! How true she is, unless her husband corrupts her, or drives her to despair! How often she is good in spite of example! God made her weaker that man might have the honest satisfaction and superior joy in protecting and supporting her. To torture her with the strength so intrusted him for her good, is to rebel against heaven's design; is to be a monster, a coward and a fool.—Exchange.

PERILOUS ADVENTURE.—A young man about eighteen years old, a workman on the repairs of the Universalist Church, Cambridgeport, Mass., exhibited on Saturday last a feat of the most reckless daring. The staging for the new steeple has reached an altitude of one hundred and twenty-five feet, and is composed of four inch scantling, as uprights, which are held together by one inch boards. The distance between these uprights is about ten feet, and in going from one to the other, the edge of a board has to be traversed. The workman referred to, having occasion to go from one post to the other, assumed an upright position, and deliberately, without any assistance, walked across on the narrow edge of the board. The least deviation would have caused him to fall, and from that height the result can be anticipated.

Election in Blair County.

Up to the hour we go to press, the following returns have been received from this county:

	Congress. Blair,	Pershing,	Assembly. Burley,	Christy,
Allegheny,	80			105
Antis,	202		156
Blair,	12		5
Katharine,	10		8
Frankstown,	183		150
Freedom,	24		8
Greenfield,	4
Gaysport,		80		70
Juniata,	5
Logan,	207		197
N. Woodberry,	16		10
Huston,		6		10
Snyder,	148		98
Taylor,	104		102
Tyrone,
Tyrone Bor.	61		71
Woodberry,	97		87
E. W. Hollid'g,	86		26
W. W. "	86			62
Altoona, W. W.		17		12
" N. W.	tie
" E. W.	tie

We give the reported majorities in the different districts, and presume the official returns will vary but little therefrom.

Blair's majority will be about 1200 in the county, and Burley's in the neighborhood of 1000

The whole American county ticket is elected by majorities ranging from 600 to 1200.

Geo. B. Cramer, Democratic candidate for Poor Director has a majority of 171 in this Borough—good evidence that he is popular where he is known.

We will give the official vote of the county in our next issue. Had the contest been close, we should have waited for more full returns, this week, but as they are like the handle of a jug, (all on one side) we deem it useless.

Election in the State.

So far as we have been able to ascertain, by telegraph and otherwise, the following is the result of the election on Tuesday last:

Philadelphia gives 6333 majority for Read, the People's candidate for Supreme Judge. The same party has carried all their candidates for Congress in the city, except in the 1st district, which is still in doubt.

Lancaster county gives 4000 majority for the People's ticket. Thad. Stevens is elected to Congress.

Dauphin county gives about 1400 majority for the People's ticket.

Mifflin county gives 350 majority for Hale, the People's candidate for Congress in the 16th district. Centre county gives Hale 400 majority. He is undoubtedly elected. Allison White Dem., the present member, was his opponent.

Perry county gives 646 majority for Junkin, the People's candidate for Congress in the 16th district.

Allegheny county gives 4000 majority for the People's Ticket. Moorhead the People's candidate for Congress in that county, will have 1800 majority.

In the 19th Congressional district, Covode, the People's candidate has 1460 majority in Indiana county. Foster the Democratic candidate has 1000 majority in Westmoreland county, and claims 450 majority in Armstrong.

Reading gives John Schwartz, Opp. candidate for Congress, 813 majority, over J. Glancy Jones, which is a gain of 1231 compared with the vote of 1856.

Juniata county gives about 30 majority for the People's ticket.

The presumption is that the People's State ticket will be elected by 30,000 or 40,000 majority. Should the returns from all parts of the State show the same gains as those that have been heard from, the majority will over-reach the figures set down.

Congressional District.

The following are the reported majorities of the several counties in this Congressional district:

	Blair,	Pershing,
Blair,	1200
Cambria,		1000
Huntingdon,	600
Somerset,	800

This gives Blair a majority of 1600—600 or 800 more than was counted upon.

About Comets.

According to Astronomers, the comet which now blazes in the evening sky, was to have put on its most brilliant and attractive form, on the 12th inst., being at that time nearer the earth than previously, and to commence receeding from that date. Its distance from the earth on the 12th was fifty-two millions of miles. According to Mr. Hall's computation, the tail of this comet, on the 22d of September, extended to the length of fifteen millions of miles. This comet is known as that of Donati, being discovered by him June 2d. It was first supposed to have an elliptic orbit, and hence it was inferred that it is the same comet which appeared in 1827. But more accurate observations lead to the opinion that a parabolic orbit will better represent the motion of the comet than an elliptic. If so, this conspicious visitor does not belong to our solar system, is now within it probably for the first time, and will soon leave it to visit some other. Notwithstanding the progress that has been made in astronomy, as little is known about comets now as when astronomy was in its infancy. The most that has been done is to determine the periodicity of some of them, but regarding their character, and the causes of the singular appearance they present, science is as much at fault as when they were first observed. Over twenty of them are known to be periodical, or belonging to our solar system, with various periods of revolution. At this time there are three visible, only one, however, Donati's, without the aid of the telescope. One of the telescopic comets is Enck's, which revolves around the sun in the short period of 3¼ years (forty months) with nearly the regularity of a planet, and which, when most distant, or in aphelion, is not beyond the orbit of Jupiter. The third is a comet, and is said by astronomers to have no resemblance to that of 1836, or the famous "comet of Charles the 5th," with which it was first thought to be identical. It is now in the circle of perpetual apparition in our latitude, or revolves around the Pole without setting.—There have been recorded by astronomers, about seven hundred comets in all, of which the orbits of about one hundred and eighty have been calculated. The periodic revolutions vary from three years to several thousand years. Some approach in their perihelion so near to the sun as to be heated to a white heat, as some suppose, though possibly, like a great many other suppositions, this may be very erroneous. Although the number of comets is so large, there are comparatively few which appear to the naked eye; only about fourteen in a century. But, to the telescope, hardly a year passes without the observation of one or more. In 1810 four were seen, in 1818 there were eight.

ALTOONA, Oct. 8th, 1858.

To the Editors of the Tribune:

GENTLEMEN—I was sorry to see, in your issue of Sept. 30th, my name at the head of your paper as Associate Editor. My proposal to assist you, so far as my time would allow, and your many engagements might require, was without the most remote idea of being publicly known in connection with the Tribune. To be published as Associate Editor, would be to make me responsible to some extent in the eyes of the public for all that appears in the Tribune, which you know I am not; and to connect me with its politics, while my object was only to aid in keeping up the moral and literary tone of the paper.

Had you proposed to me such a connection with the Tribune, I would at once have promptly declined; or had you consulted me, before placing my name at the head of your paper, I would most peremptorily have forbidden it. I do not blame or reflect upon you for having done so, for I am doubtless at fault for not more fully understanding the position I was to occupy: but what I ask is that you confirm the facts as herein stated, and drop my name as Associate Editor. Had it not been for afflictions in my family, and absence from home, until after the last issue of the Tribune, I would have made this request last week.

Yours, most truly and respectfully,
A. B. CLARK.

We fully corroborate all that is stated in the above letter. We are sorry that we did not more fully understand our friend when he made the proposal to assist us.—We did not ask his consent to raise his name as associate editor, from the fact that we never dreamed of his being thereby assailed as a politician, and presume that had it appeared at any other time than on the eve of election, no such assault would have been made. We were aware that his contributions added much interest to the Tribune, and we had no desire to claim the paternity of that which did not belong to us, and therefore wished to give him the credit. We ask pardon for placing him in the unpleasant position we did, and believe that his letter will fully satisfy those who have laid our error to his charge. As we stated in a previous article, we are responsible for all political articles which appears in the Tribune, and hope they will not be charged upon others, to their detriment.

THE SCALPEL.—The October number of this highly commended and severely censured publication is before us, abounding, as usual, in "salty" digs at the medical "quacks," and humorous articles on various subjects, prominent among which is one entitled "Nothing—by Nobody." All parties, sects and persons are alike in the eyes of the editor, Dr. Dixon, and all come in for a share of his praise or condemnation, as the case may be. He cares not for the censure of any one. He expresses his opinions freely and does not desire to control others. We deem the Scalpel one of the best publications on our exchange list, and would not do without it. We do not agree with the Dr. on all subjects, but as that makes no difference to him, and we do not imagine ourselves capable of reasoning him out of his notions, we pass on to admire the boldness and vigor of his style, which is equalled by few and surpassed by none. Price 25 cents per number. Sherman & Co., New York.

BLOODY AFFRAY BETWEEN PRINTERS AT LOUISVILLE.—The Courier, of Louisville, Ky., of the 24th ult., gives the particulars of a shooting affair at that locality. On Saturday afternoon, an affray occurred in front of Wm. Diller's cigar store, on Third street, which resulted in the death of D. L. Ward, at the hands of R. R. Lindsey, both printers. Lindsey was passing down Third street, and was accosted by Ward, Ward using very abusive epithets, calling him a "d—d rat," and finally striking him in the face.—Lindsey immediately drew a pistol and fired, the ball entering the left breast.—Ward walked a few steps, entered the Democrat office, and died in less than half an hour.

THE "CHERRY COLORED CAT" OUTDONE.—At Portland, Me., a cute chap advertised a lecture on the "Humbug of Spiritualism," the point of which would be "letting the cat out of the bag." Admission five cents only. A large audience gathered at the City Hall, on Wednesday evening, and the lecturer, after a few words on the nature of humbug, took from beneath his desk a bag, which he promptly opened, and out sprang a veritable cat! The audience, fortunately for the lecturer, relished the joke, and amid the burst of applause that followed he let himself out of the lecture-room.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—The Lady's Book, for November, is already on our table. The engravings are of the most costly kind. The reading matter is at once chaste in style and unexceptionable in matter. It is filled with articles from the pens of the best lady writers of the country. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance; two copies, one year, $5, three copies, one year, $6. Address L. A. Godey, Philadelphia.

THE WASHBURNES.—W. D. Washburne, a younger brother of the famous three now in Congress, is nominated to the Minnesota Legislature, and there is talk of adding him to the Washburnes in Congress next year. There is still another brother in California, who was a candidate for Congress in 1856, and who yet intends to add his name to the catalogue.

SPURGEONISM.—A correspondent of the New York Evening Post who has been reading "Spurgeon's Gems," is much stuck with the originality of the idea there expressed, "that we should all probably like to have free passes to the palace of heaven." He, at the same time, suggests that the holders of those "passes" would, probably, be "dead heads."

EMERSON'S MAGAZINE AND PUTNAM'S MONTHLY.—We have just received this excellent periodical for October. It is not a compilation of love stories, but abounds in sound practical articles, conveying valuable information to all its readers. Published by Oakesmith & Co., New York.

☞ The School Visitor, published by Alexander Clark, at Pittsburg, has been greeting us regularly for some time past. It is a good publication of the kind, and would be a pleasant companion for every scholar and teacher. It is published monthly at 50 cents per year.

FLORIDA ELECTION.—Returns from the Florida election give Hon. Geo. S. Hawkins, Democrat, 2000 majority for Congress. Mr. Walker was elected State Register. The Legislature is largely Democratic.

MERE MENTION.—If the Pittsburgh Chronicle would credit the local items copied from this paper, it would not locate citizens of this place in that city, and would give more satisfaction.

☞ The municipal election at Savannah, Ga., on the 11th inst., resulted in the success of the Democratic ticket.

Letter from Springfield, Ohio.

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, Oct. 5, 1858.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Autumn never comes but it brings with it a tear from my eye—for it was in Autumn my sister died. The trees were clothed in their attire of red and yellow hue, as she lay in her snowy shroud. I remember when fell disease seized her frame, and how quickly she drooped and died; how anxiously I gazed upon her pale face as she lay murmuring my name; how I thought she might recover, until I saw my mother weep—then I knew she was going to die. Oh, how my young heart sank within me, when the sobs of parents and brothers fell upon my ear, and when they told me Mary was dead! I remember what sensations of grief filled my bosom, when I heard them screwing down the coffin-lid. They buried her in the little grave yard on the top of a distant hill. I remember how bitterly I wept when I saw them placing the corpse in the hearse and drive away from the house; how I stood and, with streaming eyes, watched the solemn procession slowly passing under the trees and up the hill toward the city of the dead. I was then in the Springtime of life, but felt as if I had passed through the storms of many winters, with the chilling effects in my heart.—Tears have passed since then, but never will I forget the gloomy appearance that Autumn wore. A light had gone out in our household, never to shine again on earth. I was led to her new-made grave—it was covered over with leaves from the surrounding trees. I remember how carefully I stroked them off and wished for Spring, that I might adorn her grave with flowers.

Thus it is that I am sad when Autumn comes—the time of falling leaves and faded flowers—the time that sister died.

The Military Encampment, held here last week, was almost a fizzle. There were only three companies present—the others in this county and those which were expected from a distance, failed to make their appearance.

About ten days ago, the aspiring candidates for Congress in this District, Stanton (Rep.) and Hubbard (Dem.), were in town, and entertained the citizens with a public discussion in the town Hall. Mr. Hubbard opened the discussion in a speech of one hour; Mr. Stanton followed, and spoke one hour and a half; and Mr. Hubbard replied in a short speech. Of course both beat, and their friends left, entertaining the same opinions still. Mr. Hubbard is a fluent speaker, and his speech was characterized throughout by strong arguments and plausible proofs. He made some home-thrusts that were not at all relished by his opponent.—Mr. Stanton is, however, a more fluent speaker than Mr. Hubbard, but not so pleasant. There is too much pomposity about him. He made some remarks that fell heavily upon his opponent and the Democratic party. The following Saturday evening, the Democrats had a Mass meeting in the town Hall, which was numerously attended. Mr. Wilson, from St. Louis, and others, addressed the meeting. The Democrats feel encouraged to fight their foe desperately, yet I think their success is doubtful.

The Excelsior Society of Wittenberg College—its active and honorary members—with the Faculty of the Institution, partook of a bountiful repast at Willis' Hotel in this city, on the 22d ult., which was certainly one of the most genial, social and entertaining festivals I have ever enjoyed. After the most thorough discussion of the luxuries with which the table was laden, numerous toasts were read and were very happily responded to. A gentleman from Altoona, now a student at Wittenberg College, by name, Peter Bell, read the following toast: "Prof. Geiger: Whose mind is as exact and comprehensive as the science he teaches—May we ever fully appreciate him as our instructor; and may his immortality be limned in glowing character upon the monument of new-born science."

Last Saturday, the Fire companies of this city—four in number—paraded through the principal streets and made a splendid appearance. Long may they wave!

What's become of your handsome correspondent "Mac," alias "Periwinkle?"

JUSTINUS.

ANOTHER SHOCKING RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening, another shocking accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Brinton's station a few miles east of Pittsburg, which will doubtless result in the death of a young man named James Sheridan. It appears from the accounts in the Pittsburg papers that young Sheridan, who had been drinking during the day, left the city about four o'clock in the afternoon, upon one of the trains bound east, and in the evening he was discovered by a brakeman upon a western bound train, near the above named station, lying upon the track, with both legs broken. The train was stopped and he was immediately conveyed to the depot in Pittsburg where Dr. M'Cook, Sr., and son, were called. They found the young man in a dying condition, the cars having passed over both legs between the knee and ankle. The feet were held by thin strips of skin, which were cut loose, the feet still remaining in the shoes. The patient was faint from loss of blood—so far gone that the physicians could not operate upon the limbs. At half past eleven o'clock, he was removed from the depot to a room in the Mansion House where he was still lying at last accounts. It is supposed that Sheridan, being desirous of returning to the city, attempted to get upon the cars, and in doing so fell upon the track, and met with the injury. His physicians expressed no hope whatever for his recovery, and deemed it impossible that he would live until the next morning.

A SPLENDID PISTOL.—The Louisville Courier says that Captain John Travis, the champion pistol-shot, has had manufactured by Morgan Jones, the great Gun Man of Utica, New York, a pistol, the like of which has never yet been seen. It has not yet been tried, but Travis has such confidence in his own nerve, and the "pistol holding up" that he is willing to give half a dollar for every shot at a barrel of flour half a mile off, provided he can have the barrel of flour when he hits it.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ Rather premature—the slight sprinkle of snow we had last week.

☞ Dog fighting in the Second Ward—Hooking Sausages.

☞ Scarce—Applicants and disbanded candidates who expected to be elected.

☞ Plenty—persons who knew just how the election would go.

☞ Ditto—game in the vicinity of this place—but exceedingly wild.

☞ Gen. Denver refuses, it is said, to withdraw his resignation as Governor of Kansas.

☞ Respited.—John Lutz, who was to have been hanged on Friday last, has been respited for the present, by Governor Packer.

☞ A new post office has been established at Conemaugh Station, to be called "Pershing," and Francis Clements to be postmaster.

☞ See advertisement of J. Snyder, Tailor, in another column and then give him a call and he'll give you "fits."

☞ A creditable job—the painting on the new store-room of Messrs. Lowther & Plack.—Walsh was the contractor.

☞ Some one has defined an editor as being a poor fellow who empties his brains to fill his stomach.

☞ Glad—we are—that the political campaign is over for this season, and doubtless everybody else is also.

☞ J. T. Headley, author of "Sacred Plains" and other interesting works, died at Buffalo, last Tuesday.

☞ An Irishman named James Harkins was instantly killed, on Tuesday evening of last week, in one of the coal banks, near Johnstown. He leaves a wife and two children.

☞ In demand—Funk and Cramer tickets on election day. If people didn't know who else were running, they knew Funk and Cramer were.

☞ A dandy lately appeared in Iowa with legs so attenuated that the authorities had him arrested because he had no visible means of support.

☞ An English paper, speaking of the American light pleasure-wagon, says: that the wheel consists of four circles of cheese rind, filled in with spider-webs.

☞ A fire broke out recently in a broken bank in Illinois. The cashier smothered it with bank rags. The flames were no match for their weight in "wild cats."

☞ Dermot Dempsey, the wealthiest man in Macon, Georgia, died last week. In his will, he gives his two children each $2,500, and the Catholic church of that city $490,000.

☞ Thirteen objections were once given by a young lady for declining a match; twelve of them being the suitor's twelve children, and the thirteenth the suitor himself.

☞ Mrs. Partington thinks that old Mother Ocean is no better than she ought to be, or else she would not allow the Atlantic cable to lay in her bosom!

☞ Prentice wishes that the individual who invented what was called the "paying out machine" for the Niagara and Agamemnon, would get up a little machine of the sort to be used in the case of every newspaper subscriber.

☞ A Keene Richards, of Georgetown, Ky., has determined to purchase the celebrated English race horse, Fisherman, and bring him to this country. The price to be paid for him is $30,000.

☞ Efforts have lately been made by the Patent Office, through Mr. Heade, our minister to Brazil, to obtain tea seed from that country, where it has been successfully cultivated for 30 years.

☞ The tail is the canine indicator of joy. In caressing a strange dog you should always "wait for the waggin'!" The reader will at a glance be fully alive to the danger of stroking a dog without a tail.

☞ A lady, writing from Texas, speaks of having waked up one morning and found herself in bed with a serpent. A great many ladies have found themselves in the same predicament—and some gentlemen.

☞ In Iowa, the other day, a brute of a man kicked his wife. The indignant neighbors assembled and made a jackass kick him. The wife was kicked by much the baser beast of the two.

☞ On Sunday last, while Dr. Burrows, pastor of the first Baptist church in Richmond, Va., was preparing to baptise several persons at the second Baptist church, he had his gold watch stolen from a chair on which he had laid it.

☞ Editorial Convention.—A meeting of the Pennsylvania Editorial Union will be held in Philadelphia, on Wednesday, the 20th of October. It is expected that the press of the State will be well represented at this convention.—Morton McMichael, Esq., of the North American, Philadelphia, is President of the Association.

☞ The Postmaster General has decided that all "supplements" or "extras" folded within regular issues of daily or weekly journals—not actual and bona fide editions of such publications, conveying intelligence of passing events and general intelligence—subject the whole package to letter postage.

☞ The Tioga County Bank, in this State, has been re-organized, and the Girard Bank, of Philadelphia, now redeems its notes at par. It will be remembered that this is one of the new Banks, about which there was trouble in reference to its original organization. The parties then concerned are out, and others are now said to have the management.

☞ The Philadelphia Press says, among those who left for Europe on the ill-fated President, and was never again heard of, was a clergyman of that city. His wife, who remained in Philadelphia, and who was deeply attached to him, never would believe that he was lost to her. Eighteen years have passed away, and yet, that trusting lady—we cannot speak of her as wife, and she repudiates the name of widow—continues to expect his return. Every day, a cover is placed for him at the table, where still stands his accustomed chair. Every ring at the bell, we are informed, awakens the [illegible] lished convictions of her heart that the [illegible] will return.

☞ Salty Verdict.—In a recent suit [illegible] Pittsburgh Court, in the case of McLaughlin vs. Campbell; action to recover damages for seduction of plaintiff's wife, (in which the evidence of criminal intercourse between Campbell and Mrs. McLaughlin was very positive) the jury found for the plaintiff $1,023, [illegible] consider this a salty verdict, but certainly [illegible] when the enormity of the offence is considered.

☞ The Comet.—According to the astronomers, the illustrious visitor with the fiery tail will not remain with us much longer. His visit is limited to the 20th of October. After that he and his tail are off for the realms of space.

Oh, on by whistling spheres of light,
He flashes and he flames;
He turns not to the left nor right,
He asks them not their names;
One spurs from his demonic heel,
Away, away they fly,
Where darkness might be bottled up,
And sold for "Tyrian dye."

☞ A Merchant of Cincinnati, residing [illegible] the rural suburbs, and having an estate of [illegible] thirty acres in a high state of cultivation, [illegible] placed among his fences and hedges man-[illegible] spring guns, bull dogs, and other contrivances to keep off poachers. The first victim [illegible] dogs was his own mercantile partner, who [illegible] his clothes torn to shreds. The next result of his contrivances, was that of a gutta percha trumpet, with a long tube, and the mouth in the house, while the other end was at the extreme fence, made such a hideous and unearthly noise as to alarm the whole neighborhood every time it was blown. The next result of these precautions has been to frighten everybody away from the premises, and the man has no friends or visitors to his prison.

LOGIC.—A writer in the Westminster Review once took the position that alcohol is food, and offered the following logic in proof of it:

"Food is force.
Alcohol is force.
Therefore, alcohol is food."

Dr. Mussey gives a formula equally logical and exclusive, namely:

"Horse-feed is force.
Whipping a horse is force.
Therefore, whipping a horse is horse-feed."

To which capital logic our John adds his:

"My ma is a woman.
Queen Victoria is a woman.
Therefore, Queen Victoria is my ma."

Our Jeems thus expresses his sentiments rather harshly, though nevertheless truthfully:

"The fools are not all dead,"
The writer of the above is not dead,
Therefore, said writer is a fool.

Burning of the Crystal Palace.

The ruins of the New York Crystal Palace were, on Wednesday, strictly guarded by a large force of police. Of the ruined turrets, eight in number, and a segment of the iron frame work of one of the galleries, remain standing, serving to mark the outline of the vast edifice, while the rest is a vast heap of ruins. Broken pillars and columns of iron, melted glass, ruined and blackened machinery, mingled in inextricable confusion, cover the whole area to the depth of from two to four feet, and among these exhibitors and inventors, with dejected countenances, were groping about, searching vainly for something worth saving of their lost property.

It is thought that the whole amount of property which can be recovered from the ruins and put to use, will not exceed $180,000. The goods of Mr. David Rail, jeweler, in Broadway, were all saved except about $1,000 worth, a part of which has recovered in a solid mass of gold. A few of the works of several watches were recovered, but it is not known to whom they belong. The total loss of those connected with the fair, it is now supposed, will not exceed $350,000. A large coal heap, containing forty or fifty tons near to the reservoir will, continues to burn, and the streams of water poured upon it seemed only to feed the fire, whence arises a dense volume of smoke and steam.

One of the heaviest losses was sustained by Messrs. E. C. Hall, Lucien Ayer and Madison Page, who owned the celebrated panorama of the Rhine, painted by Champney. The panorama covered 30,000 feet of canvass, and was valued at $20,000. It was totally destroyed, and there was not a cent of insurance. The officers of the American Institute, whose fair was so disastrously brought to a conclusion, together with the exhibitors, have appointed a committee to make arrangements to open a new fair, probably at the Cooper Institute. It is supposed many valuable articles were stolen, as when the alarm of fire was given every one seized the nearest article to them and made the best of his way out of the building. As there was considerable valuable jewelry and plate in the Palace, doubtless some have made hauls second only to those taken at the sack of the Kaiserbagh in Lucknow.

PEDESTRIAN FEAT.—Jackson, the pedestrian, has been walking in Burlington, Vt., on a queer sort of a wager. Speed and distance were not put into the game; but he undertook to walk, at such a pace as he might choose, without cessation for 105 hours—saving only forty minutes for rest. He concluded the feast, according to programme, at 12 o'clock last Saturday night, having spent thirty minutes out of his forty in sleep, and the other ten minutes in taking a lunch in a sitting posture. Having won his wager ($100) he confessed himself "rather used up" and proposed to take "a bit of a nap," which he accordingly did.

PUBLIC NIGHT SCHOOL.—In many of our large towns and cities, in this State, the Directors have caused to be opened a public night school, for the benefit of apprentices and others whose daily employments prevent them from attending the day schools, and who are consequently deprived of the blessings and benefits of our system of popular education, and it has been found to work admirably. We do not know that such an idea has ever been broached in this place, but we think if there be a town in the county where such a school is needed, and would be well attended, it is Altoona. There are a great many young men and boys employed in the shops and throughout the town, who can not leave their work to attend the day schools, who would gladly embrace an opportunity, such as a public night school would afford, to improve their education. It would furnish them with the means of spending their time in something more profitable and rational than puffing tobacco smoke and losing about street corners and drinking saloons. We recommend such a school to the Directors in this place, knowing them to be men who have the welfare of the community and the best interests of the rising generation closely at heart, as has been evinced by all their actions, and we feel sure that if such an institution can be established, they will do it. If it can be, let it be tried and it will soon be apparent that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity and gladly exchange a seat on some store box or in a drinking saloon, for one in a school room where they may improve the knowledge attained in their younger days, or make some amends for the time they have misemployed when they had the opportunity but did not value the privileges of a day school. This is a subject of general interest, and we doubt not that it will meet with the hearty concurrences of nearly if not all of our citizens.

"CALATHUMPIAN" SERENADE.—On Monday night of last week, our ears were greeted with the dull-cat strains of mel-odious music, excruciatingly extracted from about a dozen tin horns, a kettle drum, any number of tin pans, cow bells, shingles and other instrumenta, coupled with the vociferous barking of all the dogs in town, and the loudest yelling that the best lunged portion of the party could execute. All together it was a fine effort—that is, if those residing in the vicinity of the scene of confusion are partial to medleys. The affair was gotten up in honor of the arrival of Mrs. Smith—that is to say, our good, kind, clever, gentlemanly old colored friend, Billy Smith, who keeps the oyster saloon and restaurant, on Railroad street, a few doors above the Exchange Hotel, in this place, did, on the Sunday previous to the serenade, take unto himself a wife, from among the colored people of one of the towns down the road, with whom he arrived in this place by the express train on said Monday morning. We have not learned whether the musicians received a "treat" or not, but presume they did, as old Billy never wants people to work for nothing. We embrace this opportunity of wishing our aged friend many years of joy and prosperity with his new partner.

NEARLY FINISHED.—The Carpenters are about giving the finishing stroke on the new store-room and Town Hall, erected by Messrs. Lowmaster & Black. The building is an ornament to the town, and creditable to the owners, builder and painter. The carpenter work was executed by Mr. Jacob Hesser, of this place, than whom few better workmen can be found. The painting was the work of our young friend, P. Walsh, and need only be seen to be admired. The first story of the building, fronting on Annie street, contains three large windows of four lights each, and the panelling between and underneath the windows, and the doors, are oak graining, executed in a style which can not be surpassed.—The Hall, on the second floor will, we presume, hold between four and five hundred persons, and will be a great addition and decided advantage to the town. All that is now required to make this the centre of attraction, is a fine stock of goods, and we know the proprietors will have them on hand in a few days.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY.—A contemporary says that forty-two new counterfeits of various bank notes have been put in circulation since last month—a pretty certain proof that the talent, labor and risk of those persons concerned in this illegal trade meet with a substantial reward. Were counterfeiting unprofitable, men would not engage in it; but, when it is found that banking institutions are careless about the matter, and the commercial public generally rather indifferent on the subject, counterfeiters will proceed with their work at all hazards. The only way to account for the lukewarmness generally manifested towards propositions to stay the flood of worthless money thrown into circulation, is to believe that the losers by counterfeits are chiefly persons who work for wages, upon the mass of whom the taxation of counterfeiting, in the aggregate, falls with great severity, several millions of dollars annually being made and scattered throughout the country. This is a condition of things that requires a speedy and effectual remedy.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—We notice that the "Great Southern Train" between this place and Hollidaysburg, heretofore under command of Col. Jim Cramer, is now under the care of Capt. Dick Franks. Jim it appears, caught the Western Fever, a short time since, and consequently, on Wednesday last, resigned his charge to Capt. Dick, knowing that he could fill his place satisfactorily. Jim is now peregrinating the western wilds, and we hope he may get a sight of the "elephant" and plenty of "buffaloes," and should he penetrate to the head waters of Fraser river we hope he may find plenty of the yellow lumps. His stay will be protracted for several weeks, during which time Capt. Dick will continue to discharge the duties of commander on the "Great Southern" in a manner he alone knows how.

DUFF'S MERCANTILE COLLEGE, Corner of Third and Market Streets, Pittsburgh.—The oldest and most effectively conducted in the United States. The Book-keeping and writing departments in this Institution have always been conducted by gentlemen standing at the head of their profession. Mr. J. S. DUNCAN, the Professor of Penmanship, has already enrolled his name upon the list of American Authors, by the publication of two of the most complete and valuable contributions to our school text books—his "GEMS OF BUSINESS AND ORNAMENTAL PENMANSHIP," and his new and elegantly engraved School Copy Books, in eight numbers, twenty-four quarto pages each.—These works now form the standard of taste in this art throughout the West, and are rapidly superceding all others in our Select and Common Schools. Mr. DUNCAN has, also, just been awarded the FIRST PREMIUM for best Business and Ornamental Penmanship by the State Fair of Pennsylvania. The Pittsburgh Commercial Journal of the 1st of October, contains extracts from the evidence before the Master in Chancery, on a Business Balance Sheet, made out by the teachers of Book-keeping in the Iron City College, confirming their errors of $15,77$, and sustaining the correctness of the statement given in the same case by the teachers of Book-keeping in the Merchant's College.—Chronicle.

☞ Nothing since the Foundation of the City of New York has produced the excitement among all classes that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative has done. All classes from the gray and bald-headed sire, and the silver-haired matron, down to the sprighatly youth and beautiful maiden with her glossy ringlets, are crowding the Depot at No. 312 Broadway; the former to be permanently restored, and the latter to possess themselves of that which will prevent the inroad of envious time, and cause the appearance of youth and beauty to linger to the greatest age. Besides all the popular Druggists in the country are constantly engaged in dealing out the Restorative to their customers, "and the cry is still they come."

CAUTION.—Beware of worthless inventions, as several are already in the market, called by different names. Use none unless the words (Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, Depot St. Louis, Mo., and New York), are blown in the bottle. Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine dealers, also by all Fancy and Toilet Goods dealers in the United States and Canada. See advertisement in this weeks paper.—New York News.

EMIGRANT TRAVEL. The travel of emigrants over the Pennsylvania Railroad, to points in the far West, continues quite large, one thousand four hundred and seventy two, having taken passage during the month of September, and carrying with them forty-five thousand and seventy-six pounds of extra baggage. Of the whole number, nine hundred and ninety-four were from New York, and of this number nine hundred and fourteen had tickets for St. Louis, Chicago, St. Paul, Kansas and other distant points. Four hundred and eighty nine of the five hundred and twenty eight from Philadelphia also were destined to the same points, so that the number of way passengers was unusually small; thirteen thousand nine hundred and ninety emigrants have passed over the road since the first of January, and of this number, ten thousand four hundred and twenty six went to points west of Pittsburgh.

I'LL CALL AROUND AND PAY.—What a world of woe is contained in these few words to the poor artizan or mechanic! 'I'll call around and pay,' says the rich man to avoid the trouble of going to the desk to get the necessary funds, and the poor mechanic is obliged to go home, to disapoint his workmen and all who depend upon him for their due. It is an easy matter to work—the only real glory in this life is an independant idea of being able to sustain yourself by the labor of your own hands, and it may easily be imagined what crushing force there is in 'I'll call around and pay' to the laboring man who depends upon that pay for subsistence. If those who could would pay at once, it would place hundreds and thousands in a condition to do likewise, and prevent much misery and distress.

A HOME PICTURE.—There is scarce a family in our town that does not mourn the loss of a "household treasure." How many parents in the beautiful language of one of our sweetest poets, can exclaim:—

O, where is our dainty, our darling—
The daintiest darling of all?
O where is the voice on the stairway,
O where is the voice in the hall?
The little short steps in the entry,
The silvery laugh in the hall!
O where is our dainty, our darling—
The daintiest darling of all?
Little Maud!

The peaches are ripe in the garden,
The apricots ready to fall!
The blue grapes are dripping their honey,
In sunshine, upon the white wall.
O where are the lips, full and melting,
That looked up so pouting and red,
When we dangled the sun-purpled bunches
Of Isabella over her head;
O Maud! little Maud! say, where are you?
(She never replies to our call!)
O where is our dainty, our darling—
The daintiest darling of all!
Little Maud!

A VALUABLE COUGH MEDICINE.—Most persons treat a Cough or Cold with indifference, regarding it as a simple matter, which will subside of itself without any medical treatment.—There is no greater mistake than this, although they frequently do get well without medicine, yet a Cough or Cold is always symptomatic of Pulmonary Diseases, and should be arrested in the early stage of the complaint. Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup, sold by G. W. Kessler of this place, will as surely cure these cases as water will put out fire. Don't delay then in curing the first approach of Pulmonary symptoms, by taking "Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP."

CONTRIBUTIONS.—The last number of the Tyrone Star acknowledges the receipt $112, 87½ for the benefit of James R. Plumer, (the man injured at the encampment) and family. This is certainly commendatory on the part of the military and others who have contributed. The injured man still remains at the American House Hollidaysburg. No doubts are now entertained about his recovery, and it is expected that he will be well enough to remove to his home in a few days.

VIEWS ON THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—About four months since, J. Edgar Thompson, Esq., President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, authorized Constant Gillon, Esq., and several gentlemen of Philadelphia, to pass over the road and secure photographic views of different romantic and beautiful points. They accordingly obtained accurate representations of Gallitsin, Spruce Creek, the Allegheny Tunnel, &c., &c., and returned with portfolios crammed with sketches.

Among the achievements of the party, was that of taking a photograph of one of the finest engines on the road, the "Blazing Star." She was standing in front of the western end of the Logan House, at Altoona, at the time. In the representation, which is perfect, Mr. J. J. Weitzel, the conductor of the train to which the locomotive is attached, is seen standing beneath the small house on the engine. The engineer is gazing from the window, and the figure of the fireman is discernible in the background. In the distance, is a portion of the "Logan House," and that part of Altoona which lies immediately back of it, upon the ascending hill-side. The whole thing is admirably and beautifully done. —Patriot and Union.

☞ The best and greatest variety of Penmanship just exhibited at the Pennsylvania State Fair, at Pittsburgh, and at New Castle, Pa., was from the Iron City College, of this city. This institution is now the largest in the country, and offers superior facilities for acquiring a practical business education.—Pittsburg Daily True Press.

RESIGNED.—Capt. Hambright, one of the conductors on the Fast Line, on the Penna. Railroad, has resigned, and his place is to be filled by George Gibson, of Pittsburg. Capt. Hambright was one of the oldest conductors on the road, and as such was very popular with the travelling community.

SHOCKING RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The Harrisburg Telegraph brings us intelligence of a horrible accident which occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad on Wednesday, and by which two men, named Lawrence Moore and John Wagner, were hurried into eternity without a moment's warning. The Telegraph says:—"Eight men, employed by G. W. Wilbert, Master Mason, in the construction of a slope wall below Bailey's Station, left Newport in a hand-car after the emigrant train going West had passed that station. The law of the road requires the track to be clear of obstructions twenty minutes before the approach of regular trains, and the occupants of the hand-car expected to reach Bailey's Station in time.—But it was subsequently ascertained that Mr Wilbert's time piece was eight minutes behind railroad time. When forty or fifty yards from the upper switch of Bailey's siding, however, they heard the Express train coming, and commenced tumbling out of the hand car, on either side of the track. Six of the eight succeeded in getting out safely before the advancing train came upon them. One of the occupants—either Moore or Wagner—fell backwards upon the track, and was struck by the cow-catcher, and the hand-car itself was carried by the cow-catcher some distance beyond the switch. Larry Moore was killed on the spot, and John Wagner so badly injured that he died in a few hours.

A FAST OLD FELLOW.—The Ex-Reverend Mr. Mott, of Rutland, Vt., must have attended the Free Love Convention in that quiet little town, for he has done naughty things, according to the Rutland Herald. The Supreme Court of Vermont has just rendered a decree of divorce of Mrs. Sarah A. Mott from her husband, whereupon the Herald gives a biographical sketch of the gentleman:

"We know that man—Darwin Mott. He came to Saint Albans with a long face, a silver headed cane, and Rev. prefixed to his name.—He preached one faith a few months, and suddenly changed it. He preached and went [illegible] preaching the same day. He preached on temperance (and the people were astonished at his stolen lectures and feigned modesty,) and got drunk. He lectured to young ladies and played the admirer. He kept a bad school—edited a reckless paper—stole money, and charged the theft upon the servant girl—got the office of Deputy Inspector—got drunk upon smuggled liquor—took one shirt, another man,s wife and a bundle of manuscript sermons, and ran away from his own wife, his paper, and a crowd of creditors."

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.—One of the very best Cough Medicines to be found anywhere, is Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup, sold by G. W. Kessler, at 50 cents per bottle.

THE PANIC—MORE FAILURES.—The panic in New York seems to be on the increase. In this city everything goes on smoothly, and the only failures we have heard of were the failures to furnish good fits made by some inferior clothing establishments. There is no such difficulty to be encountered by those who patronize the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above sixth. Gentlemen and Youths never fail to procure capital fits at this popular establishment.

DIED.

On the 10th instant, of Congestion of the Brain, LAWRENCE NEWEL, infant son of Thomas and Hannah E. McMinn, aged 1 year, 3 months and 3 days.

In this bereavement of these fond parents our sympathies are deeply moved. This is the third child in succession, (and of the mother's, in each case the only son and only child,) which they have followed to the grave. Though Charlie, Jimmie and Lawrence have each in turn, for a time, cheered that mother with their smiles and their prattle, those bright boys now all sleep side by side in death's icy arms, and that mother goes childless. Truly the providences of God are inscrutable, and His ways past finding out. But faith whispers—though I may not be permitted now fully to see and know all these mysteries, yet I am assured that "He doeth all things well." We commend these bereaved parents to the good word of God's grace, and hope they may be cheered by the bright anticipations of a holier and happier meeting with this lovely trio in the realms above—"for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

From our fond breasts away,
With silent grief is gently borne
To its lonely bed of clay.

Send Jesus, our kind shepherd, stands
With all engaging charms—
Hark! how he calls the tender lambs
And folds them in his arms.

Oh! parents, dear, weep not for me,
For I am not dead but sleeping here;
I was not yours, but Christ's alone,
For he loved me best and took me home.

PROSPECTUS OF THE WESTERN EDUCATOR.—On the first of January, 1859, we propose commencing the publication of an Educational Monthly Magazine for Teachers and Schools, entitled the "WESTERN EDUCATOR." The Educator will be printed in the highest style of the art, on clear, white paper, and in 8vo. form of 32 pp. neatly trimmed and enclosed in a handsome cover.

The contents will be prepared with a view to the wants and wishes of teachers: the mission of the Magazine will be to assist and encourage teachers in their arduous labors. Nothing exclusively local or tedious, such as lengthy reports of the transactions of minor Educational Associations, or state [illegible] labored essays, will be admitted into the columns of the Educator. Our object shall be to furnish a faithful friend and companion to teachers and the more advance pupils in the Public Schools.

We are glad to announce the following able corps of special contributors:

John Ogden, late Prin. McNeely Normal School, Ohio.
B. M. Kerr, A. M., Prin. Oakland Seminary, Pa.
D. Dennison, Prin. 2d Ward Public School, Pittsburg.
Rev. S. E. Kane, Darlington, Beaver county, Pa.
Rev. W. W. Laverty, Prin. Wellsville, Ohio, Male and Female Seminary.
Rev. J. R. Shearer, Wellsburgh, Va.
Rev. D. S. Welling, Prin. Maple Grove Academy.
Rev. E. A. Brindley, (Uncle Edward.)
Teachers and friends of Education, favorable to the enterprise, will confer a favor by corresponding freely with us on the subject. The first number will be issued early in December next, provided we meet with sufficient encouragement.

The price of the Educator will be One Dollar a year payable on the receipt of the second number.

BOERHAVE'S

HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA,

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,

LIVER COMPLAINT,

WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND

FEVER AND ACUE,

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers and the approbation, and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convince us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen $2 size; and believe us yours very respectfully.

(Signed) DANIEL LATHORP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., Nov. 19, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeings his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxurient crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxurient a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

Gardiner, Maine, June 22, 1855.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My Hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,
DANIEL N. MURPHY.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR!

PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD,

COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

Is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder, and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The LIVER is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions: when the stomach is at fault, and the bowels are at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the LIVER—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many deliable. rangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with LIVER COMPLAINT, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOD, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

BILIOUS ATTACKS are CURED, AND, WHAT IS BETTER, PREVENTED, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.

Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents Nightmare.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures Costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia.

☞ One dose of two teaspoonsful will always relieve Sick Headache.

One bottle taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic, while one dose often repeated is a sure cure for CHOLERA MORBUS, and a preventive of CHOLERA.

☞ Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of mediacine after a long sickness.

☞ One bottle taken for JAUNDICE removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the food digest well.

One dose often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa in its worst forms, while Summer and Bowel complaints yield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures Cholera Morbus, and a preventive of it.

In children: there is no remedy in the world, as it is a sure cure for CROUP.

A few bottles cures Dropsy and Kidney attacks caused by Worms

We take pleasure in recommending the INVIGORATOR, as a preventive for Fever, surer, safer, or speedier never fails.

as a preventive for Fever, by exciting the absorbents, all Fevers of a Bilious type, commending the medicine and Ague, Chill Fever, and and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

☞ Mix Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is daily working cures, almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a DISEASED LIVER.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

HAMMONTON LANDS NEW ENG-

LAND SETTLEMENT.—RARE OPPORTUNITY.

[illegible] farms in a healthy place, twenty-two miles from Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic railroad, New Jersey. An old estate has recently been opened for sale, and the first division of 10,000 acres divided up into farms of twenty acres and upwards. The soil is of the best quality for the production of fruits, grains, &c. The price is $10 to $20 per acre, payable in easy quarter yearly instalments, within a term of four years, with interest. The terms are made easy, in order to insure the rapid improvement of the land, by enabling every industrious man to buy a farm. It is now being extensively improved by good roads, and some of the best citizens from New England and the Middle States are erecting large improvements. It is a scene of the greatest improvement out of Philadelphia.—Seventy-five houses have been built in four months. Practical farmers and business men from the length and breadth of the Union are settling there. It is an important business place, on account of its being in the midst of a great market. Every article raised upon this land finds an immediate sale. The water is excellent, and no such thing as fever is known.

The soil is a sandy or clay loam, with a clay bottom and retentive of manures. It is free of stones and easily worked. It abounds largely in the phosphates, and such is its fertility that from the crops produced both upon this land and the large area adjoining under cultivation, it will be found not to be excelled anywhere in the production of crops most adapted to its market.

The reader may be well aware that the earliest and the best fruits and vegetables come from New Jersey, which are annually exported to the amount of millions of dollars. The land, besides being accessible in every way for fertilizers, has an abundant supply of the best quality of muck manure.

Lumber and building materials can be had on the spot at a cheap price, from the mills. Other mills are now being opened, and brickyards being started on the ground. A purchaser can put up a frame tenement for present convenience for one hundred dollars. On account of the extensive emigration, this is the best course to pursue in order to get a place to live in at first. Carpenters and builders are on hand to put up houses on the best terms.

In settling here the emigrant has many advantages. He is within a few hours' ride of the great cities of the Middle States and New England; he is near his old friends and associations; he is in a settled country, where every improvement and comfort of civilization is at hand; he is in a healthy place, and is not subject to the certainty of losing the greater part of his family and his own health by those malignant fevers which make the graves of so many millions of the young and and hardy in the far off regions away from home and friends. Besides, he has a mild climate and an open winter.

There are three trains daily to Philadelphia, and to all those who improve the railroad company gives a free ticket.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless those statements were correct no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see the land under cultivation; they will meet persons, no doubt, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements, and can judge of the character of the population. Persons should come prepared to purchase, as many are locating, and locations are not held on refusal.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly Literary and Agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, will be sent to each enquiror, and can be obtained at 25 cts per annum.

Title indisputable. Warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrances, when purchase money is paid. Route to the land.—Leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia, for Hammonton by railroad, at 7½ A. M., and 5½ P. M.; when there enquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences will be found. Letters and applications can be addressed to S. B. COUGHLIN, 202 South FIFTH Street, below Walnut, Philadelphia. Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOK-

ING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public a NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING

Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supersede all others, as it requires

ONE-THIRD LESS FUEL

than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas or soot from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it escapes. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of fires or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Mansion Temple, and examine the above stoves.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Altoona and vicinity that he has opened a store of the above kind, near the corner of Adaline and Julia streets, East Altoona, where he will keep constantly on hand a full supply of everything in his line. His

GROCERIES

are all fresh and will be sold at prices as low as those of any other establishment in town. His stock of provisions, consists of Flour, Hams, Shoulders, Sides, &c.

will be sold a little cheaper than they can be bought any where else. His Flour is obtained from the best mills in Western part of the State, and is warranted to be what represented.

All kinds of Feed for horses, cows and hogs, always on hand.

Intend to keep such an assortment that I shall at all times be able to supply my customers with whatever they may need, and I intend also to sell at prices which will be a saving to those who patronize my store.

MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES

FOR JULY, 1858.

R. FRANCE & Co.,

Managers of the Maryland State Lotteries, present the following Splendid Schemes

FOR AUGUST, 1858.

They caution purchasers of Tickets to beware of ordering Tickets in Lotteries where extraordinary large Capitals are offered for a small cost of Tickets—all such are swindles.

The Maryland Lotteries have been in existence for Forty Years. They are drawn by a State Officer, and can be relied on. If you draw a Prize, you will get your money.—The whole country is flooded with bogus Lottery concerns. Beware of them.

SUFFERING HUMANITY, READ

THIS.—The undersigned takes this method of informing the public generally that there is no medicine now offered to the public that is equal to DU VALL'S GALVANIC OIL in relieving suffering humanity.

I was an observer of its effects on a friend of mine, who suffered almost everything from a neuralgic affection which resisted the best medical treatment in Centre county. We applied freely the Galvanic Oil to the painful part, and gave some inwardly, and in 20 minutes the pain-at was asleep, and when awakened was free from pain and continued so. This is a positive fact which I am willing to make good at any time. A case of Felon was cured in nearly the same length of time. J. H. HAHN,

NOVEL AND EXTRAORDINARY!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS of the United States Journal Publishing House.

Encouraged by the unexampled success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Att Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of GOLD WATCHES, RICH JEWELRY of all kinds, GOLD PENS, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first-class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium.—Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail:

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial eighteen carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time-keeper,	$60	00

Sparkling, from painting by W. F. Edwards, 50 9c.

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The UNITED STATES JOURNAL contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the JOURNAL or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premium articles in the selection as $1 for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10 Books or Journals amounting to $21, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefor.

Specimens and Catalogues sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.—VOL-

UME FOURTEENTH begins September 11, 1858.

MECHANICS, INVENTORS, MANUFACTURERS AND FARMERS.

The Scientific American has now reached its Fourteenth Year, and will enter upon a New Volume on the 11th of September. It is the only weekly publication of the kind now issued in this country, and it has a very extensive circulation in all the States of the Union. Now, as seems might arise from its title, a dry, abstruse work on technical science, on the contrary, it so deals with the great events going on in the scientific, mechanical and industrial works, as to please and instruct every one. If the Mechanic or Artizan wishes to know the best machine in use, or how to make any substance employed in his business, if the Housewife wishes to get a recipe for making a good color, &c.—if the Inventor wishes to know what is going on in the way of improvements—if the Manufacturer wishes to keep posted with the times, and to employ the best facilities in his trade—if the man of leisure and study wishes to keep himself familiar with the progress made in the chemical laboratory, or in the construction of telegraphs, steamships, railroads, reapers, mowers, and a thousand other machines and appliances, both of peace and war—all these desiderata can be found in the Scientific American, and not elsewhere. They are here presented in a reliable and interesting form, adapted to the comprehension of minds unlearned in the higher branches of science and art.

TERMS:—One Copy, One Year, $2; One Copy, 6 Months, $1; Five Copies, 6 Months, $4; Ten Copies, 6 Months, $8; Ten Copies, Twelve Months, $15; Fifteen Copies, Twelve Months, $22; 20 Copies, Twelve Months, $28, in advance.

Specimen copies sent gratuitously for inspection. Southern and Western money, or Postage Stamps, taken for subscriptions.

GREAT DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

IMPORTANT TO

TOBACCO CHEWERS.

DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES, the great Substitute for Tobacco.

It is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS

to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven, that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood deranges the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will bear testimony—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

Are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the entire system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great, ways consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are also and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shorting their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches of Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned to whom all orders should be addressed.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT!—

McCORMICK'S NEW GOODS HAVE ARRIVED AND ARE NOW BEING OPENED FOR INSPECTION AND SALE.

"Halloo, neighbor, I'm here on the ground again. Perhaps you recollect when I, last year, asked you to hold my horse a moment and tell me where the CHEAP STORE was. But it is different now. It reminds me a little of the campaign of 1840, when Gen. Harrison was elected President. You have only to go with the crowd and you will have no difficulty in finding McCORMICK'S STORE. From the excitement down the valley, and the quantity of goods I see carried away, they must be selling of very rapidly and very cheap."

"You are right, my friend; I would say to you, sir, go ahead and your anticipations will be fully realized. He has a very large and well selected assortment of Goods. He'll sell you a dress for fifty cents and give the trimmings into the bargain, I'm told, and all other goods in proportion."
